The Dolomites, wonders of nature.

Italia, 21.11.2024 [ENA]

The Dolomites, a UNESCO World Heritage site, are one of Italy's most captivating natural wonders. With their majestic peaks, breathtaking views, and rich biodiversity, they attract millions of visitors each year, including nature enthusiasts, hikers, and sports lovers.

The Dolomites, spectacular mountains in northern Italy and a UNESCO World Heritage site, date back approximately 250 million years, when they were coral reefs submerged in an ancient tropical sea. Their distinctive dolomite rock, formed from marine deposits, gives the peaks a unique pink hue at sunset. Stretching across the provinces of Trento, Bolzano, Belluno, and Verona, they offer breathtaking landscapes: lush valleys, alpine lakes such as Braies and Misurina, and iconic massifs like the Tre Cime di Lavaredo. Beloved by hikers and climbers, the Dolomites provide an unparalleled blend of geology, history, and natural beauty.

The Dolomites offer unique experiences all year round. In summer, they are a paradise for hikers, with scenic trails, climbing routes, and mountain biking. In winter, they transform into a snowy wonderland, ideal for skiing, snowboarding, and snowshoeing. The well-maintained roads make it easy to reach mountain passes and refuges, providing breathtaking views along the way. Tourist hospitality is exceptional: hotels, chalets, and restaurants combine comfort with tradition.

Discover the Dolomites, where every season brings unforgettable emotions. Whether you seek adventure or tranquility, you will find a perfect retreat amidst extraordinary landscapes and unparalleled nature.
